Nestlé has inaugurated its first Gerber NutriPuffs cereal snacks plant in Shuangcheng District, Harbin City, Heilongjiang Province, China.

With an investment of around RMB 100 million (approx. CHF 14 million), the launch is an important milestone for Gerber in China.

The factory will produce organic and regular Gerber NutriPuffs, with a total of eight flavors. They will come in cans and flexible packaging that are 100% recyclable, in line with Nestlé's commitment to make all its packaging reusable or recyclable by 2025.

Gerber has a range of baby foods already available in China including infant cereal, fruit and vegetable puree, and baby snacks.
