Taiwanese company Eastheath Trading Co., Ltd. introduced a brand-new product line known as ZHEN YOU MEI, focusing on Inca oil nutritional products and newly launched health and nutrition foods.

Inca oil, also known as Sacha Inchi Oil, is one of the highlights of the ZHEN YOU MEI product line. This oil is derived from acclaimed Sacha Inchi Oil seeds, which are rich in protein, fibre, and healthy fats. Additionally, Inca oil is a rich source of Omega 3, 6, and 9, along with essential vitamins such as A and E. These nutritional components offer numerous health benefits, including supporting heart and digestive health, promoting healthier cholesterol and glucose levels, and enhancing the well-being of bones and joints. The unique cold-pressed technology employed ensures the purity of the oil, with absolutely no chemical additives.

However, the greatest advantage of ZHEN YOU MEI goes beyond product quality. They possess exclusive expertise that allows each of their products to stand out in a market of similar offerings. This advantage stems from the following factors:

Their products are based on high-quality ingredients and meticulous craftsmanship, ensuring that consumers become loyal patrons after just one try.

With a professional research team and exclusive development techniques, they promote their products with the philosophy of selling premium goods. They firmly believe that consumer experience relies not only on product quality but also on scientific research and technical support.

Most importantly, their products are crafted entirely from 100 per cent natural herbal ingredients. They have a profound fascination for natural herbal health and nutrition foods with a preventive approach. After years of research and experimentation, they have uncovered the mysteries and wonders of native plants in nature. These plants not only provide nutrition but also improve and restore health. The core concept, vision, and mission of ZHEN YOU MEI are to enable consumers to care for themselves in a more natural way, making life better.
