

Azelis enters into distribution agreement with BENE0 in India and Bangladesh

22 November 2023 | News

This partnership completes its advanced product offering for food and beverages, including bakery, confectionery, meat, and dairy products, as well as plant-based alternatives for the latter two applications

This partnership completes its advanced product offering for food and beverages, including bakery, confectionery, meat, and dairy products, as well as plant-based alternatives for the latter two applications

Azelis announced its new distribution agreement with BENE0, a prominent manufacturer of functional ingredients for the food, feed, and pharmaceutical industries. Effective immediately, Azelis will be the exclusive distributor for inulin, oligofructose, scFOS, texturized wheat proteins, faba beans, Beta-glucans, meatless solutions, and speciality rice ingredients in India and the entire portfolio in Bangladesh. This new agreement strengthens Azelis' existing and successful partnership with BENE0 in EMEA.

BENE0 is a leading expert in developing and producing functional ingredients derived from natural sources such as chicory roots, sugar beet, rice, and wheat. In Food & Nutrition, BENE0's plant-based functional ingredients help improve the nutritional and technical properties of a wide variety of products, while maintaining or even improving taste or texture.

This new mandate reinforces Azelis's offering in India and Bangladesh; this partnership completes its advanced product offering for food and beverages, including bakery, confectionery, meat, and dairy products, as well as plant-based alternatives for the latter two applications. Moreover, BENE0's strong commitment to sustainability aligns with Azelis's strategy to provide innovative and sustainable formulations to its customers.