NFFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

HungryPanda leads way in advancing food delivery solutions for APAC

28 March 2024 | News

HungryPanda's online ordering platform provides a tailored user experience to Asian users living and travelling abroad, bridging cultural and language barriers

HungryPanda's online ordering platform provides a tailored user experience to Asian users living and travelling abroad, bridging cultural and language barriers

HungryPanda, the world's leading overseas Asian food delivery platform hosted the 2024 Golden Panda Award Gala at the Pan Pacific Hotel in London, UK.

The 'Golden Panda Award' is a symbol of excellence in the global overseas Chinese food industry, setting the highest standard for culinary achievement. It stands as the world's exclusive international honour specifically dedicated to recognising restaurant businesses in the food delivery sector; it also serves as a tribute to the relentless dedication of our food delivery riders.

"Our commitment to promoting and celebrating outstanding achievements in international Asian cuisine is embodied by the 'Golden Panda Award'," said Kelu Liu, CEO of HungryPanda. "We are deeply appreciative of the overwhelming support from our esteemed speakers, attendees and especially our restaurant merchants and delivery riders, who are the driving force behind HungryPanda's success.

This year's gala marked the first following HungryPanda's visual rebrand, transitioning from its traditional blue and white colour scheme to the highly visible combination of yellow and black. This strategic decision, informed by expert consultation and detailed studies on transportation safety, aims to enhance the visibility and safety of our delivery riders, especially during nighttime operations.

The gala, previously held in Melbourne, set a new benchmark for excellence in Chinese food delivery on a global scale. With Melbourne and London serving as culinary powerhouses in their respective regions, they provided the perfect backdrop to honour individuals shaping the Chinese food industry and delivery landscape.

HungryPanda's online ordering platform provides a tailored user experience to Asian users living and travelling abroad, bridging cultural and language barriers.