

PrimoHoagies announces partnership with Pittsburgh's Linebacker Patrick Queen

09 September 2024 | News

This collaboration underscores PrimoHoagies' commitment to growth and local engagement

This collaboration underscores PrimoHoagies' commitment to growth and local engagement

PrimoHoagies, known for its delicious hoagies made with premium meats, cheeses and unique spices announces a new partnership with Pittsburgh's Linebacker, Patrick Queen. This collaboration is a significant move for PrimoHoagies as it expands its presence in the Pittsburgh region.

Patrick Queen, one of the league's premier linebackers, will work with PrimoHoagies for the 2024-2025 season. Queen, a standout player, earned Second-Team All-Pro honours in 2023 and was selected to the Pro Bowl that same year. He was also named to the PFWA All-Rookie Team in 2020, demonstrating his impressive defensive skills from the start of his career. His debut season highlighted his significant ability on the field, and he played a pivotal role in his team's achievements. "I think it'll be a great partnership. I enjoy their hoagies. I don't get to eat them much during the season, but when I do, I like to get something quick and delicious, so this is a perfect fit," said Queen.

PrimoHoagies, with multiple locations in Pittsburgh, is dedicated to deepening its community ties. The stores are eager to celebrate their partnership with Patrick Queen alongside their loyal customers.

This collaboration underscores PrimoHoagies' commitment to growth and local engagement. The Pittsburgh area and neighbouring communities are excited to embark on this new chapter, sharing the enthusiasm for the partnership with Patrick

Queen.