

Activ8me launches nutritional foods & drinks

26 May 2017 | News

Activ8me, a leading provider of innovative fitness products, has launched a full range of products, including healthy and nutritional foods and drinks and a machine with an assortment of hand-picked, nutritionally-beneficial snacks and drinks, that would act as hunger crushers for your round-the-clock work or gym routine. These vending machines are fully compatible with the rupee notes, plastic money cards and top-up cards.

The main focus is on creating synergy in the work environment by satiating the nutritional needs of employees with snack and beverage vending machines that are not just smart, but also super-healthy.

Activ8me, a leading provider of innovative fitness products, has launched a full range of products, including healthy and nutritional foods and drinks and a machine with an assortment of hand-picked, nutritionally-beneficial snacks and drinks, that would act as hunger crushers for your round-the-clock work or gym routine. These vending machines are fully compatible with the rupee notes, plastic money cards and top-up cards.

Activ8Me utilises and develops a network of fun, successful, and passionate social entrepreneurs that are ultra-committed to its overarching vision of making healthy foods more convenient than junk food. The main focus is on creating synergy in the work environment by satiating the nutritional needs of employees with snack and beverage vending machines that are not just smart, but also super-healthy.

Activ8Me is much more than an assortment of ready-to-consume healthy products. It's a revolution that will change what we eat and why we eat it. Aimed at generating awareness and turning healthy food, a mere alternative, into a lifestyle.