

LBB Specialties partners with Kerry Group to launch innovative ingredients

05 February 2025 | News

This innovative range includes products that elevate the sensory and functional experiences of personal care products

This innovative range includes products that elevate the sensory and functional experiences of personal care products

LBB Specialties (LBBS), a leader in the speciality in North America, announced a new partnership with Kerry Group, a world-leading taste and nutrition partner for the food, beverage, and pharmaceutical markets with innovative, sustainable speciality ingredients for the Personal Care industry.

With this agreement, LBB Specialties will be Kerry's distribution partner in the United States and Canada for its new line of emollients, emulsifiers and fermentation-derived actives specifically designed for skincare, personal care, and cosmetics.

"We are honoured to partner with Kerry, a brand synonymous with technology, innovation, and quality in the Food & Nutrition industry, as their key Personal Care distributor—launching their technology and expertise into the PC market," said Christopher Nork, Senior Vice President of LBB Specialties Care. "As consumer demand grows for natural, innovative, sensory-rich and sustainable formulations, this partnership aligns with our customer excellence pillar and resources to our clients."

This innovative range includes products that elevate the sensory and functional experiences of personal care products. Kerry offers state-of-the-art emulsifiers that enhance stability and texture and fermentation-derived actives that enhance anti-ageing.