NFFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

Healthie.in announced as the largest healthy food delivery brand India-wide

12 December 2017 | News

Leading online healthy food delivery startup Healthie.in has been announced as the largest brand in healthy and fresh food delivery startups category within three months of its launch.

Customers can directly place orders on Healthie.in for home delivery and is serving more than 25,000 customers through the platform

Leading online healthy food delivery startup Healthie.in has been announced as the largest brand in healthy and fresh food delivery startups category within three months of its launch.

Healthie.in offers fresh, wholesome and delicious food to customers in New Delhi, Gurgaon, Noida, Mumbai, Hyderabad and Bangalore. The startup is serving more than 25,000 customers through the platform.

Serial entrepreneur Rajesh Sawhney, founded Healthie in August 2017 with a mission to make India healthy by promoting healthy food and lifestyle. Healthie.in currently has 13 kitchens across the country and is launching another 12 kitchens in next three months.

"The tremendous customer response to Healthie.in in the first quarter of launch fully validates our belief that India is on the cusp of a healthy food revolution. More and more people are looking at balancing their occasional indulgent meals with a regular diet of healthy food; however, options available so far have been limited. Healthie.in is our attempt to plug this gap with food that is as tasty as it is wholesome and fresh," said Rajesh Sawhney.

Healthie offers a collection of All Day Breakfast, Salads, Soups, Juices, Smoothies and Healthy Desserts full meals like Super Sandwiches, Super Bowls and Super Thalis.

Customers can directly place orders on Healthie.in for home delivery. Healthie is also listed as one of the top brands on online food delivery platforms like Swiggy and Zomato.