FFOODS Spectrum
perspectives on food technologies & business
ASIA

Al Ain Mills, EIH and ADIO partner to develop advanced milling facility in Abu Dhabi

03 November 2025 | News

This strategic collaboration reflects the shared ambition of all parties to strengthen the UAEâ??s global position as a leader in food innovation, self-sufficiency, and long-term sustainability

This strategic collaboration reflects the shared ambition of all parties to strengthen the UAEâ??s global position as a leader in food innovation, self-sufficiency, and long-term sustainability

In line with the UAEâ??s food security policy commitments, Al Ain Mills and Ethmar International Holding (EIH) announce their collaboration with Abu Dhabi Investment Office (ADIO) for the development of a state-of-the-art milling facility in Abu Dhabi.

Al Ain Mills and EIH share a commitment to further advancing the UAEâ??s food security agenda and supporting Abu Dhabiâ??s strategic vision to establish the Emirate as a leading regional hub for sustainable food production and processing.

The new facility will expand the commercial footprint of Al Ain Mills into Abu Dhabi, and the resulting increase of the companyâ??s production capacity will have a direct enhancing impact on the UAEâ??s national food processing capabilities.

This initiative is led by Ethmar International Holding (EIH), an Abu Dhabi based investment holding company with a diversified portfolio across several sectors. EIH focuses on driving strategic investments that contribute to the UAEâ??s sustainable economic growth and align with the nationâ??s long-term vision for economic prosperity and resilience.

This strategic collaboration reflects the shared ambition of all parties to strengthen the UAEâ??s global position as a leader in food innovation, self-sufficiency, and long-term sustainability, while contributing to a resilient, competitive, and sustainable food ecosystem for the UAE and the wider MENA region.