

Sri Lanka gets its first noodle meal kit

10 April 2018 | News

Nestlé has launched yet another exciting innovation to the market – Maggi Creations. It is Sri Lanka's first ever noodle meal kit, providing consumers with pre-portioned food ingredients and recipes to prepare home-cooked Nasigoreng and Biryani style noodle meals. It is part of Maggi's Simply Good initiative to inspire and offer tastier and more nutritious choices, and encourage more home-cooking among the younger generation.

It is part of Maggi's Simply Good initiative to inspire and offer tastier and more nutritious choices, and encourage more home-cooking among the younger generation.

Nestlé has launched yet another exciting innovation to the market – Maggi Creations. It is Sri Lanka's first ever noodle meal kit, providing consumers with pre-portioned food ingredients and recipes to prepare home-cooked Nasigoreng and Biryani style noodle meals. It is part of Maggi's Simply Good initiative to inspire and offer tastier and more nutritious choices, and encourage more home-cooking among the younger generation.

Each Maggi Nasigoreng and Maggi Biryani pack serves two people, containing two noodle cakes made with the goodness of oats, a seasoning mix of spices and vegetables, and a spicy sauce. It also provides recipes to enhance the meal with vegetables and meat for added nutrition.

Catering to consumer preference for no artificiality and more natural and familiar ingredients, the Maggi Creations range contains a variety of popular Sri Lankan spices to naturally enhance flavour, including garlic, coriander, cardamom, turmeric, cumin, chilli, black pepper, nutmeg, fenugreek and aniseed. It also offers nutrition and portion guidance on-pack to help consumers eat a healthy and balanced diet.