

CCBA opens new juice line in Kenya

16 May 2018 | News

Coca-Cola Beverages Africa (CCBA) has opened a new juice line at its Nairobi plant in Kenya, which was launched by president of the country Uhuru Kenyatta.

The juice line will manufacture a range of products including fruit juices, sports drinks, dairy fusions and iced tea.

Coca-Cola Beverages Africa (CCBA) has opened a new juice line at its Nairobi plant in Kenya, which was launched by president of the country Uhuru Kenyatta.

The juice line will manufacture a range of products including fruit juices, sports drinks, dairy fusions and iced tea. Over 1,500 people work at the CCBA plant in Nairobi and the investment will create 24 more jobs.

CCBA, which was formed in 2016, produces and distributes approximately 40 per cent of all Coca-Cola beverage volumes in Africa and is the tenth largest Coca-Cola bottler worldwide.

It was created through the combination of African non-alcoholic, ready-to-drink bottling interests of SABMiller, The Coca-Cola Company, and Gutsche Family Investments.